- Use scraps when you are going to tear the edges around the design.
- I suggest using paper without the white core; it looks like bobbin pulling up even if you are using coordinating bobbin thread.
- I have had better luck with the cut-away stabilizer; the tear-away does not give the paper enough support for the stitches.
- Use the largest hoop you have available; the paper lays flatter on the stabilizer without the raised areas near the hoop.

Embroider on Paper

For this project, you will need:

- Cut-away stabilizer
- Double stick tape or spray adhesive
- Chalk - check on the back of the paper to make sure the chalk can be brushed away

1. Mark the center of the design on paper.
2. Hoop two pieces of cut-away stabilizer.
3. Spray the adhesive on the cut-away not the paper or apply double stick tape on the cut-away.
4. Lay the paper on the backing
5. Embroider design.
6. Remove from hoop.
7. Gently pull the cut-away stabilizer from the paper. Trim stabilizer close to design

Suggestions:

- Precut the paper you will embroider. We have had better luck with placing the design in the right area.
